

Your Columbarium Project Source™

ARCHITARIUM CORPORATE PROFILE

Architarium is a manufacturer of stainless steel columbarium systems. All production is done within its facilities located in Austin, Texas. Its products are designed to be modular, durable and affordable (including shipment and installation). Architarium uses current manufacturing methods to ensure quality and schedule. It uses Amada robotic equipment to ensure precision.

Most recently, Architarium manufactured the columbariums for The Aggie Field of Honor, a joint venture between the City of College Station, Texas and Texas A&M University. The project involved 1,224 niches in flat, convex, concave and back-to-back configurations.

Architarium is privately owned. Its parent company, Capitol Engraving Co., Inc. was founded in 1926 and has years of experience with industrial metal applications. Architarium warrants all of its products and supports its clients throughout operation.
